West Middle School 7th Graders Working With Engage2Learn Model

Seventh grade students in Heather Smith's class at West Middle School have been learning to use the Engage2Learn model. Students learned about linear price models and worked on an Algebra unit dealing with equations, inequalities and proportional relationships to evaluate and pick a screen print company to produce their designed shirt.

Kade Soutter had the winning design. Heather Smith explained, "Classmates elect two students per class to tour Village Screen Print shop and actually make their own shirts. Mr. Kevin LaRue, grade 7 principal joined us this year!"
